Friday 26th September 2008
2.30pm – 4.30pm

Major changes to Commonwealth/State relations are taking shape under the auspices of COAG and the National Reform Agenda which can be expected to affect the funding, structure and delivery of essential human services.

These are changes in which the community sector has a deep interest and a major stake in terms of ensuring the best outcomes for low income and disadvantaged people from the reform process and ensuring that the services delivered under a reformed system are effective and sustainable.

This forum will explore the key dimensions of the National Reform Agenda and the opportunities and challenges it presents.

Light refreshments will be provided
